

Subject: My Story: Searching for a Living Liver Donor

Dear News Team,

My name is [Your Full Name], and I am currently in need of a living liver donor. I have created a microsite with the National Liver Registry (NLR) to share my story and to help make it easier for potential living donors to learn more and begin the evaluation process.

👉 You can view my story here: [Insert Microsite Link]

Living liver donors don't donate their entire liver—only a portion of it. Both the donor's and the transplant recipient's livers grow back to full size within six to eight weeks.

The NLR's Donor Shield Direct for Liver program provides support and protections for donors, such as lost wage reimbursement, travel assistance, and more.

I am searching for someone willing to donate a portion of their liver and give me the gift of life. Your help in sharing my story could connect me with that person.

For interview requests or inquiries, please contact me at [Your Phone Number] or [Your Email Address].

With gratitude,

[Your name]
